

FAIR TODAY AND TOMORROW;
FRESH SOUTHEAST WINDS

Norwich, Monday, Oct. 4, 1929

THE WEATHER

Winds: North of Sandy Hook: Moderate to fresh southwest and fair weather Monday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Gentle to moderate south to southeast and fair weather Monday.

Conditions: The temperature was somewhat higher in practically all sections Sunday and readings were normal or slightly above Sunday night; except in the middle Atlantic, south Atlantic and east Gulf states.

The outlook is for generally fair weather Monday and Tuesday east of the Mississippi river. Seasonable temperatures will prevail generally.

Forecasts: For Southern New England, east New York: Fair Monday and Tuesday with moderate temperatures.

Observations in Norwich: The Bulletin's observation above the following records reported from changes in temperature and barometric readings Sunday and Sunday.

Table with 2 columns: Time, Temp. High, Low, Wind.

Predictions for Sunday: Fair, slowly rising temperature.

Sunday's Weather: Fair, southwest wind, continued cool.

SUN, MOON AND TIDES

Table with 2 columns: Day, Sun, Moon.

Six hours after high water it is low water, which is followed by flood tide.

GREENEVILLE

The three days' retreat for the women of St. Mary's parish opened Sunday evening at 7.30, with an attendance of over 100. The retreat, presided over by Rev. Mr. Verstraete, S. J., of New York City, spoke at the retreat and at the high mass at 10.30 preached the retreat sermon on the gospel for the day as related in the parable of the wedding feast. The evening's services opened with the rosary and litany by the rector, Rev. William Keefe, followed by the retreat sermon on the Creation of Man was given by Rev. Fr. Havestraw, S. J., and proved to be a masterly effort.

TAFTVILLE

Sunday was rally day for the Congregational church Sunday and a rally service was conducted for the occasion. Principal Henry A. Tirrell of the Norwich Free Academy presided at the service and the high mass at 10.30 was attended by Rev. John A. Morgan, S. J., of New York City. The three days' retreat for the women closes Tuesday night and the men's retreat closes Wednesday morning. The children of the parish will enter the retreat during special hours which will be announced later.

Dancing Class Season Opened

With about 40 present Mrs. Edward A. Andrews opened her fall dancing season for her academy class at the Waukegan Hotel on Friday evening. The hall room of the hotel was prettily decorated with garden and wild flowers. The music was furnished for dancing by Mrs. Elizabeth G. Danahy.

Good Luck Duck Hunting

Joseph N. Wray and James M. Fillmore, Jr., bagged six blue ducks on Friday at Lyme where they went to open up the duck hunting season.

Deep River—Mrs. Harold R. Winslow

of Deep River is visiting her sister in Farmington.

Coughs and Colds

Catarrh, Croup, Sore Throat Banished By Hyomei

The germs of catarrh do not exist in the same atmosphere with antiseptic Hyomei (pronounce it High-oh-may). Breathe Hyomei and relief from catarrh, coughs, sore throat or cold will come in two minutes. Breathe Hyomei and that stomach straining hawking in the morning will quickly disappear. Breathe Hyomei and kill the catarrh germs; heal the inflamed membrane, stop the discharge, soothe and prevent crusts from forming in the nose. Breathe Hyomei for a few minutes each day and rid yourself of contemptible catarrh. Breathe Hyomei—give it a faithful trial, and then, if you are not satisfied, you can have your money back. Hyomei is sold by L. & Osgood Co. and druggists everywhere.

ENDS INDIGESTION

It relieves stomach misery, sour stomach, belching and all stomach discomforts or money back. Large box of tablets at all druggists in all towns.

PASTOR TALKS ON SUBJECT OF MARRIAGE

A special musical programme by the New London Symphony orchestra and the first of a series of nine fireside sermons by Rev. Arthur F. Purkiss featured the Sunday evening service at the Central Baptist church. The orchestra rendered several numbers during the service with exceptional ability on the part of the dozen musicians comprising the orchestra.

The topic chosen by Rev. Mr. Purkiss for his first sermon of the fireside series was God and Marriage. When a man can put the gospel at the heart of everything he does—that is religion, said Rev. Mr. Purkiss. The happiness and joy of the home depends entirely on the relationship of the husband and wife. The young man can't afford to have a girl who can't and won't work. It is fine to have a home, but if you don't get the right husband or wife it isn't fine at all. It is no disgrace not to get married. Single blessedness is better than double purgatory.

The young woman who wants to get married wants to put herself in proper condition to be married. The young man likewise. It is fine for a husband to have tastes in common, sports in common and social engagements in common. I think the husband and wife should have religion in common. I have serious doubts as to whether a Christian lady and a non-Christian gentleman and wife should be Christians together.

One out of every seven are divorced and there are more than one out of every seven who wish they were divorced. When there is so much change of wives and husbands, how can you get along without Him.

BOOKS IN LIBRARY

AVERAGE AT OTIS LIBRARY: During the past year the total circulation of books at the Otis Library was 108,176 volumes, according to the annual report of the librarian, Imogene A. Cash. The circulation during the year was divided as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Category, Circulation.

The daily average of issues was 255, the library was open 305 days and the reading room was open 343 days. At the annual inventory 1148 volumes were found to be worn out, withdrawn or unaccounted for. A total of 430 volumes were rebound and a total of 3,429 new books were added by gift, state grant and purchase.

At the present time there are 45,314 books in the library. The total issue of books since the beginning of town appropriations in 1895 is 2,400,144 volumes.

In her report Miss Cash says in regard to the circulation: Although the circulation of 108,176 is not quite equal to that of our last report, we have had a prosperous and satisfactory year.

Mr. Daniel Phillips has presented the library his very handsome book, The Cemetery of Griswold, finely illustrated, typewritten and bound in pigskin. It is a valuable acquisition and as only four copies were published, we especially appreciate this valuable gift.

This year marks seventy years as the age of the Otis Library founded by its generous projector, Joseph Otis, Esq. For the last twenty-three years of that period have contributed to its support as a free public library.

Originally asked by the trustees was that the town should contribute the estimated current expenses of the library, including heating, water, etc., while outlays for construction, repairs, furniture and all books, and their rebinding, together with newspapers and periodicals, should be charged against the invested funds of the corporation.

During the first years of joint financing the town's contribution substantially covered the current expenses—one year with a little surplus which was returned to the town treasury.

The increasing activities of the library in later years, however, made it an increasing extent, on the income of their invested funds, which from time to time was increased in amount by private requests.

With your assistance the coming year to the same extent as heretofore, the trustees may hope to keep up to as high a standard of usefulness and attractiveness to the schools and the general reading public as ever.

POETRY

FAREWELL TO SUMMER
Summer is fading; the broad leaves that
So freshly green, when June was young,
Are falling,
And all the whisper-haunted forest
Through
The rustling birds in saddled tones are calling.
From
rustling hazel copes and tangled glades,
"Farewell, sweet summer,
Sweet, farewell!"

Upon the windy hills, in many a field,
The honey bees hum slow, above the Gleaming
The latest sweets its blossoms may yield.
And, knowing that their harvest time is over,
Sing, half a lullaby and half a knell,
Honey-laden summer,
Sweet, farewell!"

The little brook that bubbles mid the ferns,
Over
Over rustling roots and sandy shallows playing.
Seem faintly linger in its eddied turns,
And with a plaintive, purling voice is saying (Sadder and sweeter than my song can tell)
"Farewell, sweet summer,
Farewell, sweet summer,
Sweet, farewell!"

The still breeze sweeps down the winding lane
With gold and crimson leaves before it
Its gaily laughter has no sound of pain,
But in the hush it sinks to gentle sighs
And mourns the summer's early broken day.

"Farewell, sweet summer,
Farewell, sweet summer,
Sweet, farewell!"
George Arnold in Indianapolis News

FOUR FRIENDS
For greater gifts I would not pray
Nor ask the gods to send my way
If I could have four friends a day,
A friend of better days than this,
Of brighter sun and golden bliss,
Before the fates had gone astray.

A friend of worse days, dark and drear,
Alas! the gods to send my way
Before the fates had gone astray.

A friend new made who shall afford
Adventures of the unexplored
A friend with happy future stored.

An old friend who has stood the test,
Has known the worst and known the best,
Melancholy wisdom in New York Sun and Herald.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Visitor—"Why does your servant go about the house with that hat on?"
Mistress—"Oh, she's a new girl. She only came this morning, and hasn't yet made up her mind whether she'll stay, or—"
Fench.

"We have many men interested on our side," said a suffrage man.
"The worst of it is, it is always easy to get men interested in the cause,"—
—a fortune teller.

Scene—A lonely spot on a dark night.
Enter nervous pedestrian. Alas! enter courteous highwayman.
Highwayman—"Sir, would the gentleman be so kind as to assist a poor man, who outside of a loaded revolver, possesses nothing in the wide world—America—
—a Legion Weekly."

Merry One—"Cheer up, old man! Why don't you drown your sorrow?"
Sad One—"She's bigger than I am, and besides it would be murder"—London Tit-Bits.

"Smith is a great man to worry over nothing, isn't he?" said Brown.
"Yes," replied Jones. "If he took an ocean voyage, he would worry for fear the sea would cry up and leave him stranded in the mid-Pacific."—
—a Legation Weekly.

"I had a wife and some friends of July died," inquired the anxious person.
"dunno," answered the diffident man.
"After last night's news of the war and insane oratory I heard I would have been willing to compromise on ordinary fireworks."—Washington Star.

Shaw—"Did the new maid ask for a nightgown?"
Mrs. Shaw—"No; she asked which night we expected her to stay home.—London Answers.

"And what are you going to be when you grow up, little man?" asked the visitor.
"Well," answered the boy thoughtfully, "after I've been a preacher to please mother, and a judge to please father, I'm going to be a policeman."—Boston Transcript.

"Hullo, Brown, you look ill," commiserately remarked a neighbor.
"What's the matter?"
"Oh, nothing," Brown replied, "weight, that's all. Lost 150 pounds yesterday."—
—"Impossible!"

"It's a fact. My wife eloped with the man next door."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

"You're going to have an exhibition at the county fair?"
"No," answered Farmer Cornsweat. "The object now isn't so much to raise the biggest vegetable as it is to get the biggest prize."—Boston Transcript.

"I have little or nothing to wear to the party," said the woman who exaggerated.
"I don't know whether to sympathize or congratulate you," rejoined Mrs. Cayenne. "You must be one of two cases: The depth of poverty or the height of fashion."—Washington Star.

THE KALEIDOSCOPE

Steel hampers for soiled clothing have been patented, copying ideas from space and being more easily cleaned than wicker ones.

Concrete sea-going vessels built in Norway and Sweden have been so successful that Denmark is beginning to build them.

The total profits of the British Flax Control Board, organized in the fall of 1917, have been estimated at £4,782,871 (£23,345,867).

A heavy frost from Monday morning encountered a Waterville (Me.) man to get out his sleigh. Drawn by a motor, it skidded up over Main street and into Silver street.

An effort to be made to induce the farmers in the Christ church district to raise at least $5,000 tons of beans, which means the cultivation of 2,000 to 3,000 acres of arable land and 14,450,000 requires some 15,000 tons of sugar per annum, as the consumption is about 130 pounds per capita for the Dominion.

The total acreage under crops and pastures in England and Wales for the present year is given at 24,515,000, showing a net decline in 1919 of 225,000 acres. Of the foregoing total, 10,200,000 acres consist of arable land and 14,450,000 acres of permanent grass. There has been a decrease in the acreage put down for grain, whereas the area for clover and rotation grasses and green crops shows an increase.

The beach of Snaila Island in the Gulf of Mexico changes its color twice daily, and for this reason is of great interest to travelers. The sands are really a golden color, but when the tide is receding it has a pronounced purple tinge. This is due to the myriads of tiny snails crawling in the wake of the ebbing tide. The presence of these snails is what gives the island its name.
